

Oedipus Rex and Death of Salesman Essay Options

Although Oedipus Rex and Death of a Salesman were written hundreds of years apart from one another, they are both still regarded as some of the best examples of tragic writing. Both plays strictly follow the tragic formula. In a formal 5 paragraph essay describe how the main characters of Oedipus Rex and Death of a Salesman are similar. As the tragic heroes how do their journeys mirror each other? What qualities do they possess that make them tragic? One may have to dig deep to see the similarities, but they are there.

Explain and analyze how Oedipus Rex and Death of a Salesman are similar in their structure. Do these two works mirror each other in the way they are constructed? Both plays seem to follow the tragic formula very well. In a formal 5 paragraph essay explore how these tragic works are related through structure.

The theme of Oedipus Rex and Death of Salesman could be that life is uncertain and that fate can control one's destiny. How is this illustrated in the plays? In a formal 5 paragraph essay find examples in both plays that support either of these statements.

- The essay must be double spaced
- The essay must have a minimum length of two pages
- The essay should include specific examples from both works
- The essay should be written in MLA format